Pain Point Section

HEADLINE

Does any of this sound familiar?

BODY COPY

You're briefing agencies who don't understand your market.

You post consistently. But nothing is actually connecting.

You've hired creatives who looked great on paper. It still didn't work out.

You know your brand has more to say, but the right people to say it haven't shown up yet.

Your audience is specific. Your content keeps looking too generic.

If any of that hit, then you already know the cost of the wrong creative partner.

About / Why We Started

HEADLINE

We started KinStrategi because we lived this problem.

BODY COPY

We've been in the rooms where brilliant briefs get handed to the wrong teams. Where talented creatives get placed into projects that were never built for them. Where creative ops looked like chaos dressed up as process.

KinStrategi was built to fix that. Not by posting jobs and praying, but by building a smarter system, one that matches talent to strategy, vision to execution, and teams to the vibe they actually need.

We work at the intersection of creative culture and operational intelligence. And we're building the infrastructure that makes creative work make sense.

About the Founder

FOUNDER

Adeshewa Adeniran

TITLE

Founding Director & Operations Specialist, KinStrategi

ABOUT BLURB

Adeshewa Adeniran didn't start KinStrategi on a whim, she built it out of conviction. Having spent years deeply embedded in the creative industry, she watched the same story play out repeatedly: talented creatives landing in the wrong rooms, and brilliant brands struggling to find the right people to bring their vision to life.

She believes that fit matters as much as skill, that structure unlocks creativity, and that the right team changes everything.

Beyond the business, Adeshewa is a connector in the truest sense. Through her creative communities, she has helped countless creatives step into opportunities that were actually built for them, not just roles to fill, but roles that fit. She doesn't just source talent; she advocates for it.

She is woven into the fabric of the creative industry, understanding its rhythms, its tensions, and its potential in a way that only comes from truly living inside it. She combines a sharp instinct for spotting standout creative talent with the operational precision to build teams that don't just work... they click.

3.4 Manifesto

URL	/manifesto
SEO Title	The KinStrategi Manifesto — Why We Exist
Meta Desc	We believe in creative team alignment, structured creativity, and operational clarity. Read the KinStrategi Manifesto.
Status	DRAFT

Opening

COPY

Work doesn't fail because of lack of talent.

It fails because of misalignment.

Why We Exist

COPY

We've seen founders with vision and no operational backbone. Teams burning out from poor coordination. Agencies chasing output without depth. Talent placed into rooms where they never belonged.

We exist because creative ecosystems need intention.

KinStrategi was created to become the operational partner for ambitious creative work. Leiré was formed as the ideation studio that protects the purity of the original spark.

Together, we bridge: idea and execution. Talent and alignment. Art and infrastructure. Imagination and scale.

We're not here to just put things out. We're here to build creative systems that are strong, meaningful, and built to last.

What We Believe

01 — FIT MATTERS AS MUCH AS TALENT.

The most skilled person in the room can still be the wrong hire. When the right people come together in the right way, the work shows it.

02 — STRUCTURE HELPS CREATIVITY.

A clear system isn't a cage for ideas. It's what gives creative people the breathing room to actually do their best work

03 — IDEAS NEED DEPTH.

We don't take the obvious route. We dig into what a brand is really trying to say, and find the most honest way to say it.

04 — ENERGY MATTERS.

A resume tells you what someone has done. It doesn't tell you how they think, how they show up, or how they work with others. We pay attention to all of it.

05 — CREATIVITY NEEDS SUPPORT.

Great creative work doesn't sustain itself. It needs the right people around it, the right systems behind it, and someone paying attention to it long-term.

Fit Finder — Result Logic

HOW IT WORKS

Each answer maps to one or more of the 5 result identities. Every time a user selects an answer, points are added to the identities that answer is associated with. At the end of the quiz, whichever identity has the highest total points is the result they receive.

THE 5 RESULTS IDENTITIES

A — The Vision Wrangler

B — The Strategic Scaler

C — The Creative Ally

D — The Design-Led Operator

E — The Cultural Builder

Scoring Map — Client Quiz

Q1 — Style / Aesthetic

- Minimal & modern → D +2
- Bold & experimental → A +2, C +1
- Warm & human-centered → C +2
- Timeless & classic → D +2, B +1
- Playful & expressive → A +2, C +1
- Cultural & heritage-inspired → E +2

- Futuristic & tech-forward → B +2
- Not sure — surprise me → A +1, C +1

Q2 — Values & Influences

- Community and inclusion → C +2, E +1
- Innovation and disruption → B +2, A +1
- Storytelling and authenticity → E +2, C +1
- Precision and excellence → D +2, B +1
- Sustainability and ethics → C +2
- Legacy and cultural pride → E +2
- Other → A +1

Q3 — Working Style

- Fast → B +2
- Together → C +2, A +1
- Quiet → D +2
- Structured → B +2, D +1
- Guided → A +2

Q4 — Team Vibe

- High Energy → A +2

- Global Minds → E +2, C +1
- Straight Talkers → B +2
- The Empaths → C +2
- The Closers → B +2

- New Ideas → A +2
- Smart Strategy → B +2
- Doing Right → C +2, E +1
- The Long Game → E +2, D +1
- No Guesses → D +2, B +1

How to Calculate the Result

At the end of Q5, tally all points per identity. The identity with the highest score wins.

Example:

- A = 7
- B = 11
- C = 4
- D = 6
- E = 3

Result → The Strategic Scaler

Tie-Breaking Rule

If two identities are tied, the result should default to whichever identity scored highest on Q3 (Working Style) — since that question is the strongest signal of how a client actually operates.

If they are still tied after Q3, show both results with the copy: "You're a bit of both — here's what that means for your project." Then display both identity descriptions side by side.

What the Developer Needs to Build

- A points object that initialises all 5 identities at 0
- Each answer selection adds the mapped points to the relevant identities
- Multi-select questions add points for every option selected
- On quiz completion, sort identities by score descending
- Display the top result
- Handle ties with the fallback logic above
- Store the result + quiz answers in the form submission so KinStrategi can see what type each lead is

Tally all points per identity after Q7. Highest score wins.

- Example:

- A = 6
- B = 14
- C = 5
- D = 9
- E = 4

Result → The Precision Operator

Tie-Breaking Rule

- If two identities are tied, default to whichever scored highest on Q3 — How You Flow. This is the strongest signal of how a creative actually operates day to day.
- If still tied after Q3, display both results with the copy: "You move between both — here's what that means for the clients we'll match you with." Show both identity descriptions side by side.

What the Developer Needs to Build

- A points object initialised at 0 for all 5 identities
- Each answer adds mapped points to relevant identities
- Multi-select questions add points for every option selected
- Single-select questions add points for the one option chosen
- On quiz completion, sort identities by score descending
- Display the top result with its identity label, description, and next steps
- Handle ties with the fallback logic above
- Store the full result and all answers in the form submission so KinStrategi can see each talent's profile and match accordingly
- Tag the submission in the CMS or backend with the identity label for easy filtering when a role comes in

Result Descriptions for Developer to Display

A — The Visionary Executor You think in concepts and bring serious energy to execution. You need a client who trusts you to lead — and a brief that gives you room to move.

B — The Precision Operator You are the person who makes sure everything actually lands. Detail-oriented, delivery-focused, and allergic to ambiguity. You work best with clients who know what they want.

C — The Cultural Connector Your work is rooted in people, community, and meaning. You're drawn to brands that stand for something — and you tell stories that actually resonate.

D — The Strategic Creative You lead with thinking. The concept has to be right before anything else moves. You thrive with clients who value ideas as much as output.

E — The Adaptive Force You move fast, shift easily, and bring fresh energy to every brief. You're the person teams call when they need someone who can hit the ground running and figure it out as they go.

BODY

This is not a job board. This is not a talent database.

The Citadel is a room we built for the creatives we know, trust, and reach out to first when something important lands.

Getting in means you belong here. And belonging here means the right opportunities find you.

Section 5 — Why Enter

COPY

Creative work is often the most undervalued layer of any brand. And creatives often lack the space, the connections, or the right context to do their boldest work.

We built The Citadel to change that. Enter. Leave the noise outside. Do great work with great people.

Section 6 — Laws of the Citadel

INTRO

Once you're in, these are non-negotiable.

LAW I — NO SELLING IN THE CITADEL

Share your work. Talk about what you're building. Hype yourself up. Just don't turn the room into a marketplace. No selling, no soliciting, no "DM me for rates."

LAW II — HONOUR THE KIN

Welcome every member. Respect the room. Protect the energy.

LAW III — CREATE ON RECORD

By entering, you agree that photo and video content may be used for community storytelling, unless you notify us in writing before an event.

LAW IV — THE CITADEL DECIDES

KinStrategi holds sole discretion to admit, decline, or remove any member from the community.

Section 7 — How to Get In

COPY

Fill in the form below. If you're the right fit, an invitation will find its way to your inbox.

The Citadel is invite-only. We don't rush these decisions. Great creatives know great creatives, and if someone already inside vouches for you, even better.
